Making Good an Old Boast.
A process has been discovered whereby old leather can be converted into gelatin. Such transformation offers a ready way of utilizing many articles after their value to every one but the junk man appears to be gone. Since head coverings are sometimes made of leather, it would appear that at least the man confident that his candidate will win in an election may literally back up his confidence with the time-honored promise that he will eat his hat in the event that his man loses.

GAME WARDEN TO REVISE LIST

Killing of Gangster in St. Louis Who Held Such a Commission, Causes Official to Act in Matter.

Jefferson City, Mo.—Discovery that one of the men to whom he had issued authority to arm and wear a star as a so-called "honorary" deputy game and fish commissioner was a St. Louis gangster, ex-convict and murderer and a bank robber suspect, John J. Doyle, alias Thomas McKeon, killed in a revolver fight with St. Louis policemen, has persuaded Game and Fish Commissioner Middleton that the list of about 800 "honorary" deputies should be revised. He notified Gov. Hyde that he would "comb the list thoroughly."

It was suggested to Middleton that since the statutes make no provision for "honorary" deputies, he might be doing something in keeping with public policy by calling in the stars and commissions of the whole list. To this he demurred, however.

The statutes authorize the commissioner to appoint as many deputies as the work of the department requires, to receive salary of $4 a day and expenses while at work. The custom has grown up in the past of naming one, two, or even sometimes three, regular deputies to each of the 16 congressional districts to enforce the game and fish laws on a pay basis, and in addition to issue "honorary" commissions to many others.

You are entitled to the benefit of the doubt. Why not take advantage of it?

The law is very careful in protecting the rights of a prisoner charged with a crime.

How about the Law of Common Sense and the man who has committed an error only? Isn't this a good place to use the benefit of the doubt, too?

Take your own case: If you don't know for sure whether tea or coffee is harming you, you do know that many are harmed by the drug element in tea and coffee, and that headaches, nervousness, or high blood pressure are symptoms which often tell that the drug, caffeine, is giving the nervous system too much jolt.

Probably you know, too, that some people can't drink a cup of tea or coffee at bed-time, and sleep well that night.

Where many have been harmed by tea and coffee, and you may be harmed, isn't it well to put the benefit of the doubt on your side before doubt becomes an unpleasant certainty?

There's charm without harm in Postum—a pure cereal beverage, rich in flavor, fully satisfying; the favorite table drink of thousands.

Suppose you try giving yourself this benefit today, and keep up the test for ten days; then judge the results. See if you don't feel better and work better. You can get Postum wherever good food and drink are sold or served.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 30 minutes.
